DAKIN'S PURE VOLATILE

EUCALYPTUS OIL DISTILLED FROM THE LEAVES OF SELECTED SPECIES OF EUGALYPTUS

TAUCALYPTUS OIL has become HOUSEHOLD REMEDY' in England India, and the Colonies and in Australia i is used for nearly every known disease. When applied externally it has a powerful stimulant and soothing action but does not blister the most sensitive skin, and no application known will so quickly subdue the pain of muscular theumatism. Tak n internally in small doses, it ac as a powerful stimulant and antipasmodis whilst its secondary action induces sleep. The penetrating agreeable vapor of the Oil is sedative, and when inhaled relieves Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh and Sore

It is also a most powerful antiseptic and vermicide being three times as effectual Carbolic Acid in preventing developement of Bacteria, its uses in this direction being very numerous.

The active properties of the Oil depend upon a Terpene called Eucalyptol and we guarantee this Oil, prepared specially for us, to contain the largest obtainable percentage of Rucalyptol and twice that of the ordinary Eucalyptus Oil of commerce. Sold in Bottles @ 50 Cents and $1.00.

HARMSTON'S Circus was again crowded last night and approval of the show was ex-PARISIANS, &c., &c., &c. pressed quite as emphatically as on the epening night. There was not an uninteresting item in the whole programme, nor one that was not excellently performed, and the thousands who flooked to the show spent a most pleasant evening. It will be seen that Messra Harmston are anxious to give young Hongkong a treat at the matines on Saturday, and children on that occasion will be admitted to all parts of the tent at half price.

If the small number of cases coming before Phun, &c., &c. the Police Magistrates for the last four or five weeks can be relied upon, it is evident that there is a marked diminution in brime within the Colony, and it is all the more encouraging to know that not only has the decrease been maintained over a period of several weeks, but the cases coming before the Courts are for the most part of a trivial description. The most serious cases Captain Hastings had before him to-day were: a boarding house keeper without a license, fined $50; an utterer of counterfeit dollars, sent to prison for six months; and a farmer charged with attempting to take a Chinese girl to Singapore for an immoral purpose, sent to prison for six Hongkong, November 9, 1892.

THE third annual meeting of the Hongkong IT is stated, says an Indian paper, that in Benevolent Society will be held in the City Hall-on Thursday, 22nd inst., at noon.

We are informed by a home correspondent that a new stamp has been issued for Hongkeng. No information to this effect has been received at the Post Office. A 7-cent stamp is much needed; however, and we hope the source from which our sorrespondent received his information is really

'Onnes' have been issued by the Ad miralty that the 'Kammerband,' or cummerbund, 'a band worn by certain officers, usually worn in certain tropical climates by prudent officers around the waist.' no longer to be an article of naval dress. We (Daily Chronicle) entreat naval officers ment of their claims, and to so far conform to Admiralty orders as to wear the Kammerband-or cummorband - under their uniform, as ninety-five per cent. of them do guard against a tropical chill.

MANY rumours have been current of late in artillery circles respecting a new French gun of terrific power. With this gun, when charged with melinite, French conners calculate (says a naval contemporary) that they will be in a position to bombard Dover and the adjacent coast from the safe distance of Calais or Cape Grisnez. It is supposed to be designed with this express purpose, and our Intelligence authorities actually possess accurately drawn plans both of the construction of the weapon itself and of the light railway designed to shift it from point to noint along the north-eastern coast of France. It will be time enough, however to concern ourselves about this gun after i is actually completed and been satisfactorily proved.

Or else you be prepared to meet Death from a Six Chamber and a good marksman. The document is embellished with a crude representation of a coffin.

In his report on Fiji forwarded to the Colonial Office, the Governor writes :--There is, however, one cloud distance in the shape of the banana disease. for which, up to the present, no reliable remedy has been found. The utmost vigilance is required in order to prevent its introduction on plantations, and its extinction when it once appears is a matter of greatest difficulty, if not of impossibility. Unless some means of checking it be discovered, it is certain that in the near inture the fruit trade (which, if only the second industry of the colony in point of value, is, nevertheless, the first so far as the local interests are concerned) will austain a severe check. Some varieties of bananas are less readily attacked by the disease than are others, and some frush varieties are about to be introduced, in the hope that may be found less suscentible of the disease than is the locally cultivated 'China banana.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

It is now nearing the end of the training season and in another week all anxiety about the Regatta will be set at rest. The end of the season brings with it the usual amount of 'busted' men. crows disoranised, and consequently disappointment in anticipated results. The 'busts' this year come from a quarter little expected namely, the Naval men. Do Robeck has been forbidden by his medical advisor from rowing any more this season, a fact which will be regretted amongst all rowing men, and the Naval crew will have ing the street on a level with the first story to be rearranged. Leatham came by an accident while bowling, and is also rendered hers de combat. This upsets the middies crew, so I believe it is intended to found a watery grave. All were doubtless nels. The second day's programme is the more attractive as it contains the International. Ladies' Purso and German Cup. The various crews are not quite fixed for the first event, As yet, the English crow has not been picked, but Ward will in all probability stroke a good crew. The Germans have made one alteration upon the crew mentioned last week, and pin their faith upon Friedrichs, R. F. Lammert, E. Lammert, and Wentzensen. With De Rocompared with 24.4 in the corresponding book, the stroke of the Irish crew, out of the way, the chances of the Kornblume look roater than they did a week ago. The Scots have awakened to the fact that the honour of the Thistle is at stake. M. Morshall, Stowart-Lockhart, Duncan and Stoppai. The three firstnamed are not in training, but all being experienced oarsmen a wook's practice would work wonders, and if they can be persuaded to enter (which all Scotamen earnestly hope) the other craws would have to look to their laurels. Nothing being fixed it is difficult to say which crew will secure the coveted honour but at the present moment the Germans appear to have the pull. For the Lidies Purse I again give the Naval crew, and for the German Cap Friedrichs.

Sporting matters are pretty lively at Amov at present. Cricket and football, bowls and racquets, and racing preparations keep the leisure of the European population well filled. His many friends in Hongkong will be pleased to observe that W. H. Wallace has signalised his return to the cricket field by getting double figures against the Rattler team on Saturday. Amoy has sent a challenge to Foochow for a cricket match, and other things, during the race week, but it is not at all likely that Foochow will be able to send down

The Polo Club were unfortunate on Saturday. All the arrangements for the Sky Race Meeting were admirable, but the weather was dull to the point of depression and the surroundings did not lond the slightest dash of vivacity to the Meeting. To all appearance, the new Grand Stand of the Jockey Club is to be a substantial and commodious structure. It was due to the disarrangement and untidiness of the paddock consequent upon this improvement This match was played at Amoy on Sa- I that the enclosure for the spectators was so unattractive. With the place tidier, more favourable weather conditions, and larger Capt. Heugh, of the Rattler, playing a fields, the next Sky Meeting of the Club may be reckoned upon to be a greater success than Saturday's. The officials ieserve to be complimented on the promptitude with which they kept things going. There were no unduly long waits batween the events, and had it not been for the smartness with which they got through the programme the whole affair would have been intolerable, except to those who were able to get up something or other which really made it interesting 'to see the ponies go round.' Was this an indication of how the wind is to blow at the next Race Meeting of the Jockey Olub ?

AMOY. (From our Correspondent.)

We have been very lively here since I wrote you. The St. Andrew's Ball went off successfully, and since then H. M. Rattler has been here for a few days leaves to-day for Foochow, The Rattler's men played a cricket match against a local team on Saturday, 3rd inst. It produced some good play, Captain Heagh batting well for a not-out score of 104. while McGowan and W. H. Wallace played well for their scores of 37 and 19 (net out) respectively. When the light got too dull for cricket a football match was played and during the quartor of an hour Amoy got two goals. It was a very scratchy cort of game. The Alacrity arrived last night with Admiral Fremantle on board, but she is not expected to stay for any length of time. Dr Canaris is here, and gives two performances in the Club Theatre, so you see we are not without amusements.

Galleping begins this week in preparation for the Races.

Many of our troops were without their arms, collecting brushwood for the zareba or eating their dinners. when the envalry, who were out scouting. came galloping in with the Arabs at their heels. Many broke through the line of the 15th, on whom the brunt of the shock fell, but the ranks were instantly closed up, and shoulder to shoulder stood the gallant Sikhs, and against them the equally gallant Arabs dashed themselves in vais. Bayonet and bullet were plied with terrible effect, and no spearman thereafter succeeded in breaking through the 15th line. The Berkshire Regiment had an equally savage handto-hand fight, and a strong feeling of community, dating from this eventful March 22nd, sprang up between the two regiments, which should not be allowed to die out. Considering the nature of the cambat, the 15th loss was not heavy some thirty killed and wounded-and this was one of the occasions where it was less dangerous to stand and fight then to run away, There was an old Goeroo serving at Saakim in the transport, whom hatred of the Mussulman had attracted to the war. Too old to fight himself, he used to stimulate his co-religionists by most fiery sermons inciting them against their hereditary foe. and well did they carry out his exhortations. The regiment was specially commended by Sir G. Graham, who commanded at Suakim, for its fighting and marching qualities, and no regiment of the many which have served in the various Egyptian campaigns brought away a better reputa-Of late years some doubts have been felt as to whether we can depend on recruiting as many men from among the fighting races, the Sikhs of course included, as we have hitherto done. It has been thought that the Pax Britannica, which has prevailed in India for so many years, has quenched their martial ardour and diverted their energies to pacific occupations. The Council of the United Service of India apparently held this view, as the subject they gave for their annual gold medal competition was the extension of the recruiting grounds of the future, rendered necessary in consequence of the falling off above alluded to. The writer of the able essay which won the medal, Lieutenant Cardew, Bengal Cavalry, shares this view as far as the Sikhs are concerned, and the other competitors, whose essays are published, to a certain extent agree with him. The census of 1881 showed that there were about 1,750,000, fewer Sikhs in the Punjab than in 1863, as far as can be gathered from the imperfect returns of that year; and there is reason to anticinate that this year's census will reveal a further decrease. Unfortunate as this is. there are certain considerations which comowhat modify the position. The Sikh sect may have diminished in numbers, but the dusses from Which it is drawn still remain. and its ranks out be easily replenished. No Sikh is born ; he has to be initiated when he approaches manhood, and there are millions of Panjabis who can become fighting Sikhs after undergoing the ceremony of initiation. It should be borne in mind that a fighting casts must have the stimulus of war to keep it alive, and though the Pax Britannica has not yet shed its benign infinence on the hill tribes, the petty wars which peour most years on our frontier can hardly exercise much proselytising effect on the Panjabi oultivators. But there are especially if Afghan and Turcoman Mussulmans took part in it would sensibly increase the number of converts. This seems to have been the case in 1857; the Sikhe had greatly decreased since the destruction of the Khalsa, but the Mutiny, and especially the fall of Delhi, revived the old warlike spirit. and there was a considerable increase of Sikhs. There are about 18,000 Sikks in the Bengal army and many more in that of Bombay, in the Barmah police, "Hongkong and elsewhere. But his ought to serve in the regiments belonging to the Punion Army Corps when it is constituted, and it these foreign demands were put a stop to there would be quite enough real Sikhs for such a purpose. Two new regiments were recently raised in a surprisingly short time, composed of first-rate material, as the writer CIRCUS Man (hanting for a stray ele- oan vouch for from personal observation: class regiments, that plenty more would be forthooming. - New Review.
